

On Feb 25, a group of Washington High School students attended the Engineer Conference held at the Kirkwood Conference Center. This event hosted hundreds of high school students to explore an engineer career. The event included displays, breakout sessions, hands-on demonstrations, lunch and one-on-one discussions with engineers. The event is part of the annual Engineers Week, or E-Week, which showcases all aspects of engineering. It highlights contributions that engineers make to our society and inspires students to consider a career in engineering.
