

CBI Bank & Trust recently presented a check to Washington High School in conjunction with the Demon Mania Program: $1,150 earned by the varsity girls basketball team, and $1,595 earned by the varsity boys basketball team this past winter. Demon Mania links the performance of five varsity sports teams (football, girls basketball, boys basketball, baseball, and softball) with a series of donations from the bank to the school. The funds are then used at the sole discretion of WHS to help pay for special, unbudgeted needs. A total of $7,165 has been donated since the program got underway during the 2014-15 academic year. On hand for the check presentation on April 15th were Melissa Myers, Washington Banking Center Manager for CBI Bank & Trust, and head coaches Bryce Smeins (boys basketball/Athletic Director), Jordan Bentley (girls basketball), Collin Stark (boys basketball) and CBI Bank & Trust Washington County Market President, Steve Olson.
