

Seven Washington High School students traveled to Costa Rica this August with WHS Spanish teacher, Regina Schantz. In Costa Rica they saw rain forests, volcanoes, and wildlife, learned about the production of coffee, chocolate, and pineapples, toured the capital city of San José, and more. They also provided two days of community service: painting murals on a wall surrounding a middle school (shown), donating school supplies to the students, and restoring a park. Mrs. Schantz is planning another trip for next summer. Students who will have completed Spanish 3 should sign up by October 5.
