

DID YOU KNOW? Children of parents who talk to their teens regularly about drugs are 42% less likely to use drugs than those who don't; yet only a quarter of teens report having these conversations.

Students at Washington Middle School are gearing up for Red Ribbon Week 2015 - this year's theme is: Respect Yourself. Be Drug Free. At school, students will engage in activities that promote a drug free and healthy lifestyle the week of October 26th.

One of these activities is the yearly door decorating contests. Teachers and students are being asked to decorate their doors with a spooky Halloween theme related to being drug free. Some have already starting working away on their final products! More to come...
