

Earlier this month, the 8th grade US History students "met" a colonial woodsman from Jamestown. John Harnagel, a former educator and father of Mrs. Meyer, joined the history students for a journey back to Colonial times. He shared information about colonial life, dress and entertainment. Volunteer students were able to dress up in the colonial outfits that Mr. Harnagel had brought along. Students also had the chance to play colonial games during class. Pictured here are Sam (student), Marshal (student) and Mr. Harnagel.
